

COMMUNITY

“I had to hold back my emotions knowing how long the original building had been there and remembering visiting Honeyville with my late grandparents many years ago... It’s been a privilege and an honor to build a new facility for such a great and well known family business in Durango.”

—NEIL REESE, JAYNES PROJECT SUPERINTENDENT FOR HONEYVILLE DURANGO, CO

VOLUNTEERING

Jaynes has a strong volunteer program. We engage with the communities where we work in many ways:

- Day of Caring
Jaynes employees visit schools and other community institutions for a day to help with basic maintenance and construction projects.
- Classroom lessons
Jaynes engineers and builders visit classrooms to teach the science, mathematics, and physics of construction and sustainable building. Jaynes was a founding partner in the ACE Leadership School in Albuquerque, New Mexico.
- Board participation
Many on the Jaynes leadership team and other Jaynes employees serve on boards of directors of key community organizations.
